FCG would typically suit the following periods: 1900-1920, 1970's, 2000 - present.

INTERNAL FEATURES

Original 1901 theatre (Main Hall) with ornate wallpaper and wood paneling coupled with retro lighting from the 70's, two grand staircases lead from the attached expansive foyer. A decorative Chamber Room with conic skylight and elaborate corning. Main entrance hall at Govan Road has a mosaic of the Govan Burgh Coat of Arms set in the floor, leading to original corridors with marble pillars, mosaic flooring and period fittings such as lights and banisters. The building also has two internal courtyards. In stark contrast, the heart of the building is modern corridors with a glazed floor to roof wall.

EXTERNAL FEATURES

Decorative sandstone building with elaborate roof, designed by Thomson and Sandilands and erected between 1897-1901, the composition of red ashlar makes it one of the best examples of an elaborate Beaux Arts building in the city. On each side of the main entrance are medallion busts of Provost James Kirkwood and Baillie John Marr, over the North entrance is a bust of councilor Richard Russell. There are some vista points from internal roofs, which can be accessed with permission.

Rates are calculated on; sq ft usage, potential disruption to existing businesses and resulting exposure of material captured. Companies based at Film City Glasgow (both temporarily or permanently) will be offered reductions in cost. We will also consider applications with exceptional artistic merit and smaller budgets.
